Introducing...RYZZ Managed Futures Strategy Plus ETF

Investing involves risks. Principal loss is possible. The Fund will use futures contracts, which have the risks of unlimited losses of the underlying holdings due to unanticipated market movements and failure to correctly predict the direction of securities prices, interest rates and currency exchange rates. The Fund's exposure to futures will cause it to be deemed to be a commodity pool. Exposure to commodities markets, derivatives, and the use of leverage, may subject the Fund to greater volatility than investments in traditional securities. The Fund may make short sales of securities, which involves the risk that losses may exceed the original amount invested. The Fund will utilize various investment strategies that involve the use of complex investment techniques, and there is no guarantee that these strategies will succeed. The Fund invests in foreign securities which involve greater volatility and political, economic and currency risks and differences in accounting methods. These risks are greater in emerging markets. Investment by the Fund in lower-rated and non-rated securities presents a greater risk of loss to principal and interest than higher-rated securities. Investing in small-cap companies involve additional risks such as limited liquidity and greater volatility than large companies.
